PR1	Becky Strum	4 tickets A Case For The Existence of God (Saturday, Nov 9) Ticket winners drawn after service 11/3 Open to any member/ friend so long as they commit to attending - PINK TICKET	4 Tickets to a staged reading of A Case For The Existence of God by Samuel D. Hunter—Directed by Rebecca Strum -The Byers Studio at Town Hall Theater You are strongly encouraged to stay for the talk-back with the cast and director—share your thoughts—this is the “group part” of this radical love gift A thoughtful and meditative two-hander, Samuel D. Hunter’s extraordinary play is both intimate and expansive as it explores themes of parenthood, financial insecurity and empathy. A Case for the Existence of God unfolds in a cubicle where two seated people unexpectedly choose to bring one another into their fragile worlds. Keith, a mortgage broker, and Ryan, a yogurt plant worker seeking to buy a plot of land that belonged to his family many decades ago, realize they share a “specific kind of sadness.” At this desk in the middle of America, loan talk opens up into a discussion about the chokehold of financial insecurity and a bond over the precariousness of parenthood. With humor, empathy and wrenching honesty, Hunter commingles two lives and deftly bridges disparate experiences of marginality. “[A] must-see heartbreaker of a play.” – The New York Times Critic’s Pick! “Heartbreaking... though A Case makes the connection between personal and societal calamity more explicit than ever – can it be just an accident that it’s set in Twin Falls? – it may also be the purest example yet of Hunter’s approach to playwriting as an experiment in empathy.” – The New York Times	Saturday November 9, 2024 4 pm
